From Principal's Pen

Dear Readers,

We are now presenting yet another Quarterly News Bulletin of the school. This is the sixth edition of the school quarterly journal and third of the Academic Session 2023-24. It will provide you a glimpse of parental participation, school administration and academics, students' achievements and their diverse learning experiences. Through this medium, we wish to keep you posted about each experience and exposure of our students the school is providing them to grow.

APS Gwalior Times is sent to all parents and students to make them aware about how the school is achieving new milestones through the constant endeavours of our students and the staff. It will also help you understand the student learning trajectory through various academic and co-curricular activities organized in the school environment. Hope, you will have a good read and share your views with us during PTM for its further improvement.

Lastly, I would like to thank the Student Editorial Team for their efforts in presenting this edition of APS Gwalior Times. I am certain that our parents will agree with each bit of information therein, while going through it.

Happy Reading!

Best wishes!

Dr Arvind Kumar Sikarwar

Principal

Message from the Student Editorial Board

“The great aim of education is not knowledge but action” –

Herbert Spencer

The Editorial Board made a promise to the school that through our determination, perseverance and hard work, we would undertake any task entrusted to us by the school authorities and fulfill it in the best way possible.

We are thrilled to bring you the latest update on the incredible activities and achievements that have been unfolding at our school during the month of July to September. The dedication and enthusiasm of our school community continue to shine brightly.

We extend our heartfelt thanks to everyone who contributed to these all accomplishments including students, teachers and the school authority.
